

Remember

Health care systems can be overwhelming and stressful. You are not alone and there are people who can help.

Ask your care provider for the Aboriginal Patient Navigator or for someone else who can provide you with support.

You have the right to ask questions to health care providers and have them answered in a way that you understand.

You have the right to make an informed decision and have that decision answered by health care providers.

If you have more than one substitute decision maker include each of them in decision making conversations to lesson or ease conflict and stress when decisions are being made.

Sharing your wishes does not have to be in writing.

Advance Care
Planning in Ontario

What is advance care planning?

Entering the health care system, for example, going into the Hospital, can be overwhelming and stressful. Advance Care Planning encourages you to talk about what is important to you before you get seriously ill.

It is a process of thinking about and talking with your close family and friends. You share your values and beliefs involving healthcare treatments that you want or don't want.

It is for people of all ages.

The benefits of advance care planning:

Provides peace of mind for you and those who may be making decisions for you.

You are reassured that your wishes are known.

Your wishes help your family and those making decisions know what to do and helps you avoid conflict and stress.

You have a say in who provides care to you and who doesn't provide care to you.

What do I need to know?

In the event you are not capable to make decisions for yourself, a person called a Substitute Decision Maker (SDM) will be asked to give consent for healthcare treatments.

It is important to understand who your SDM is. In Ontario you have an automatic SDM under the law. You can also name your SDM if you are not satisfied with the automatic SDM. Find out how you can name the person you would choose.

You need to follow the law that is applicable to the province or territory in which you live when you choose someone to be your Substitute Decision Maker.

I want to talk about my wishes...now what?

Ask someone you trust who is willing and able to be your SDM.

Discuss your care wishes with your SDM and the important people in your life so that everyone is aware and supports your choices.

Maintain contact with your SDM.

Continue to talk about your health care wishes with your SDM and with other necessary people such as health care providers. Your values and beliefs can change over time; talk about what matters to you.

Understand that health conditions are complex and it is not possible to discuss or anticipate every situation. Continued conversation with your SDM while you are capable will guide your SDM to make the best decision.

Your health care wishes includes treatment options as well as your physical, emotional, social and spiritual needs.

You and your loved ones have the right to make an informed decision for your health care.
